A chorus of twelve voices assisted by a soloist will give the musical program.

Gould's Academy Entertainment.

Friday evening, November 24, the students of Gould's Academy will give an entertainment in Odeon Hall, for the benefit of their Athletic Association.

The principal feature of the program will be the presentation of a clever and laughable little farce called "Trying it on Beldon." The cast is composed of professionals who will do full justice to the characters and comical situations in the play.

However, the farce is by no means the only feature of the evening's entertainment. A great treat is promised by the Male Quartet, a new acquisition to the musical world. Two recitations and choice selections by the Girls' Chorus will be given. Still another attraction will be a representation of "The House That Jack Built." This is something quite novel and interesting, something that has been produced only a few times in this country. With this varied program, we trust that we may please you all, and urge you to give us the same generous patronage with which you have favored us in the past.

STATE PRINTING

Awarded—But not According to Bids Received.

Former State Printer gets Lion's Share—With a Small Slice to the Hon. C. W. Davis.

The awarding of the State printing by the Governor and Council, on Thursday, November 9th, called forth many an "I told you so" from the citizens of Maine.

It will be remembered that Mr. F. B. Nichols of the Bath Times, was a candidate for State printer one year ago, and he took occasion to inform the people of the State that the public printing was costing the State more than it ought to cost, and as a result the question was thoroughly aired before the joint Legislative committee at various public hearings held during the session of the Legislature, and as a final result, the office of State printer was abolished and the letting of the State printing was placed in the hands of the Governor and Council, to be let out to the lowest bidder. This is the method of handling the printing in many of the states, and it seemed quite acceptable to the people of Maine.

Pursuant to the statute, the Governor and Council asked for bids from the printers early in the fall, submitting specifications which placed the printing in three distinct classes: Class A, including all book and pamphlet work pertaining to the departments; Class B, all small jobs, such as envelopes, note-heads, circulars, blank forms, etc., and Class C, the Legislative printing.

Each of these three classes were absolutely distinct from the others and bids were required on each one separately, with a provision that anyone to bid on any one or more of the classes, must deposit with the State Treasurer, a $500 certified check for each class, bid upon as a guarantee of good faith, the amount to be forfeited in case the bid was accepted and the bidder failed to make a contract and give a satisfactory bond for the proper execution of the work.

In Class A there were four bidders: Burleigh & Flynt of Augusta, Bath Times Co. of Bath, Bangor Printing Co. of Bangor and E. C. Bowler of Bethel.

In Class B there were five: Burleigh & Flynt, Bath Times Co., Sentinel Publishing Co. of Waterville, A. C. Ladd Co. of Fairfield and G. W. Singer of Damariscotta.

Class C had but two bidders: Burleigh & Flynt and Bath Times Co.

The bids were opened on October 13, and on November 9, the work in classes A and C was awarded to Burleigh & Flynt and that in Class B to the Sentinel Pub. Co.

It was solemnly asserted that, unlike past bidding on State printing, the bids were to be given fair consideration this year, and the lowest bidder in the various distinct classes would get the work, regardless of friendship, politics or location. These assertions have not been made good, and although the State will save some $10,000 on its annual printing bill as awarded, it might have saved nearly $2000 more had it contracted with the lowest bidders, as it said it would and as is contemplated by the Statute.

These are the facts, or at least a portion of them. There are other facts and some interesting figures which will be considered editorially in these columns in subsequent editions. The News has asked the Governor and Council to explain its reason for giving the lion's share of the printing to Burleigh & Flynt when a saving could have been made by awarding it to the lowest bidder, and Governor Cobb has requested Mr. Bowler to meet him in Augusta for a personal interview. The interview will be given and further discussion of the matter will be deferred until after that time.

Surprise Party at West Bethel.

A very pleasant and genuine surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Grover at their home in West Bethel on the evening of Nov. 4.

Mr. Grover has recently bought a house on Bethel Hill and is soon to move there with his family. They have lived on the farm for about forty years and have many friends and kind neighbors who have, in the years gone by, shown their great kindness in time of sickness and trouble by helpful words and deeds. It is truly an ideal neighborhood they are leaving.

The "surprise" was still another proof of good fellowship. Mr. and Mrs. Grover were married in Abington, Mass., Nov. 4, 1855, so the occasion served the double purpose of a farewell tribute and a golden wedding.

Not an intimation of anything out of the ordinary was suspected by the family who sat quietly reading, until opening the door in response to a rap, behold! twenty-three neighbors came trooping in laden with mysterious boxes and bundles. They took complete possession of dining room and kitchen, built fires and ordered the family into the parlor.

After a time Mr. and Mrs. Grover and daughter, Lettie Thayer, were escorted to the dining room, and their astonished eyes beheld arranged upon a table, china plates, cups and saucers, a silver ladle, a beautiful lamp and a gold coin for Mr. and Mrs. Grover. A large, prettily decorated wedding cake also adorned the table. A bouquet of chrysanthemums was presented to the bride. The daughter was also kindly remembered, receiving a berry spoon and a handsome brooch.

Words of presentation and congratulation were spoken by one of the party which were responded to in a few words of thanks by the family. Soon the fumes of coffee filled the rooms and the beverage was passed a round with several kinds of cake. Songs were sung by one of our old time musicians of more than ordinary ability ably assisted by others.

After a little time spent in social intercourse and storytelling the jolly crowd departed with many good wishes, and I am sure "Well done" must have sounded in their hearts.

Merrymaking Flinch Party.

As it is generally understood, the second in the series of Flinch parties will be given to-morrow, Thursday evening, at Prospect Hotel, and the committee desire to state through the columns of the News that a few changes will be made in the evening's program.

The playing will be made progressive, and the two partners having the lowest number in their Flinch pile will now move forward. A half hour will be allowed for each game, and at the head table a bell will be sounded for the commencement and end of every game. There will be four at each table playing partners.

The short musical program will occur the first of the evening previous to the playing, and the committee take pleasure in announcing that the following numbers will be given: piano duet by Mrs. G. L. Sturdivant and Miss Elsie Hall, song by Mrs. Schoonover, solo by Dr. G. L. Sturdivant.

The program will be commenced promptly at eight o'clock, and the playing will be concluded at 10:30. The committee extend a cordial invitation to all interested in the game of Flinch to come and have a social evening. Those having Flinch cards are requested to bring the same.

Lost.

NEW LIVERY IN CONNECTION

NORTH WEST BETHEL.

Parker G. Evans of Gorham, N. H. was the guest of Seth Mason, last week.

A party of hunters staying at George McGinley's captured a deer and have returned home.

Len Sumner has laid an aqueduct and has running water in his kitchen.

R. L. Bennett was home from Roxbury, recently, on business.

George Leighton has moved his crew of men up to Camp No. 1 until time to haul lumber to the river.

Bear hunting has been quite a success here. Henry Schools caught two in traps, Leon Walling captured two, George McGinley has two credited to his steady hand and trusty rifle, but Leonard Sumner remains king of the hunters having fired five shots and laid four bears dead within three rods of his feet and never stepped from the rock on which he stood when he first saw bear number one. Now if Len hasn't a right to holler who has?

Will Thurston was in this place recently.

Mrs. Anna Stearns is visiting relatives in Oxford and Norway.

Fred Kilgore is working in the woods; his wife is in camp doing the cooking and the Stearns brothers board with them.

GOLDEN NUGGETS FOR SALLOW PEOPLE

A Rolling Stone.

H. A. THOMPSON IN SUCCESS.

At a Chamber of Commerce dinner I sat next to a man who is recognized as one of New York's leading merchants, and for that reason I shall call him Mr. Smith.

Afterwards we walked around to his club. On the way he remarked, "What did you think of that last speech?"

"I suppose the reporters will call it a masterly address," I replied tentatively.

"Yes; he's one of those chaps who call a spade more different names and do it more eloquently than any one else I've ever heard. But do you remember anything he said?"

"Come to think of it, I don't."

"No; he didn't say anything. The only impression his speech left on me is a confused blur of words."

By this time we were at the club. When we were escorted in comfortable chairs, Smith resumed:—

"Out of the glittering galaxy of words and phrases, I do remember one or two—'stick-to-it-iveness'—he seemed to be very fond of that word, and 'a rolling stone.' I think he talked for ten minutes on the different kinds of moss a rolling stone fails to gather." After a short pause, Smith continued:—

"A couple of months ago I dropped into a concern, where I started as a clerk. There was another clerk there named Carruthers. He had this start of me, all right, a good high school education, family without a flaw, dressed well,—his linen was immaculate, his clothes and his habits unimpeachable. A stranger would have taken him for the boss, particularly as the boss was often taken for the janitor. On a scale of points the judges would have awarded Carruthers the blue ribbon. When I left he was getting ten dollars a week, was at business punctually every morning, did his work promptly, was guilty of no dissipation, minded his own business—and stopped there. Somehow the men who get along are those who find it their business, in business, to mind some other fellow's business.

"Well! if a chap writing a book on 'How to Succeed' had run across Carruthers he'd 'a' put the clerk's picture in as a frontpiece and devoted a chapter to him. Unfortunately, he didn't come along, and it never occurred to Carruthers to look him up.

"That was thirty years ago. When I called there the other day Carruthers was still in indisputable authority over ledger N to Z. He was gray and thinner, but his linen was immaculate, his trousers neatly pressed, and he was minding his own business. He was a bachelor still, he told me. Think of it! Thirty years, and no kid to call him father!

"Still here," I said, making a stab at something cheerful to hide my real feelings.

"Still here," he said, "A rolling stone gathers no moss," you know."

"That was about the best exposition of the wrong side of a maxim I ever heard. It was sad but Carruthers didn't know it was sad.

"I said to the boss, as I was leaving, 'What's Carruthers getting?'"

"Twenty-five a week," he replied.

"That isn't more than enough to keep him," I said.

"It's all his job's worth, and the Lord knows where he would get another," said the boss.

"I suppose a rolling stone doesn't gather moss, and I guess Carruthers got about all the moss he needs in his business. But I think a rolling stone gets a bit polished; it certainly has variety, and undoubtedly it runs across many opportunities, and bless me if I can really see what on earth it wants of moss, anyway.

"There was another chap there in those days—a little red-headed fellow who was a trifle careless about blacking his shoes every morning.

He was invoice clerk and he used to nose around the books, asking what this was for and what that was for. Carruthers used to tell him that book-keeping is a science beyond the comprehension of the ordinary intellect. But that never fazed Reddy. I rather liked him,—somehow I have always had a weakness for red-heads,—and used to give him a pointer now and then. In those days an order was entered in a blotter, then the invoice was made out from the blotter, a slip for the packer written out, and the charge posted from the blotter to the ledger.

"Reddy went to the boss, one day, and suggested, in a shamefaced manner, as if he expected to get fired, that if a book in triplicate was used, with carbon paper, the blotter, entry, invoice and packer's slip could be made out at the same time.

"The boss saw the point, but he didn't care to spoil the boy with too much praise, so he said 'Do I pay you for working or thinking?'"

"For working," answered Reddy; but with the glint of a twinkle in his eye, he added, "but I did this thinking out of office hours."

"Reddy," said the boss, "what am I paying you?"

"Five," said Reddy, wasting no words.

"It'll be ten next week," said the boss, "and now go back to your desk and don't act as if you owned the whole place."

"When I left Reddy took ledger A to M. When I went with The Emporium, I sent for Reddy. He hadn't been there a year before he had introduced a plan for keeping a perpetual inventory by a card system. Then he got a raise in salary, but somehow it didn't spoil him. Instead of taking a vacation, like an ODD FACTS ABOUT GOLD.

Few people know the real color of gold, because it is seldom seen except when heavily alloyed, which makes it much redder than when it is pure.

The purest coins ever made were the $50 pieces which once were in common use in California. Their coinage was abandoned because the loss by abrasion was so great and because their interior could be bored out and filled with lead. They were octagonal in shape, and were the most valuable coins ever minted and circulated.

All gold is not alike when refined. Australian gold is distinctly redder than that taken in California. Moreover, placer gold is more yellow than that which is taken from quartz. This is one of the mysteries of metallurgy, because the gold in placers comes from that which is in quartz. The gold in the Ural mountains is the reddest in the world.

SOMETHING ABOUT SALT.

Salt, which is an article in daily use in the humblest homes, has a number of interesting facts concerning it.

The Romans believed that if this salt put on a sacrifice fell off it presaged disaster. Hence the origin of the "bad luck" attendant on salt spilling.

Salt is used all over the world much in the same way as water, animals and human beings alike craving for it. In some parts of Africa children will eat it in preference to sugar, and on the Gold Coast a handful of salt will purchase two slaves.

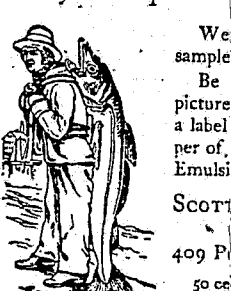

The Germans call salt "the gift of God," and used to believe that prayers were better answered when offered near salt. In the east salt is considered sacred; all oaths taken over it are inviolable, and when an Arab offers salt to a guest he guarantees his safety.

Physicians tell us that all the blood in a healthy human body passes through the heart once in every two minutes. If this action becomes irregular the whole body suffers. Poor health follows poor blood; Scott's Emulsion makes the blood pure. One reason why is such a great aid is because it passes so quickly into the blood. It is partly digested before it enters the stomach; a double advantage in this. Less work for the stomach; quicker and more direct benefits. To get the greatest amount of good with the least possible effort is the desire of everyone in poor health. Scott's Emulsion does just that. A change for the better takes place even before you expect it.

CURRENT CURIOS.

At Culross abbey, in Fife, Scotland, a tombstone has been found which is believed to date from the fourth century of the Christian era.

A partridge shot by a sportsman in a field near Bainbridge, England, the other day, dropped into the smokestack of a passing locomotive and was lost.

Bishop Mora, of Hidalgo, Mexico, recently celebrated mass 1,500 feet below the earth's surface, at the bottom of a silver mine which has been worked for centuries.

"I might as well be dead as alive, for I have nothing to live for," said an unknown tramp to another tramp whom he had met a few minutes before on the road near Leigh, England. "Don't say that, mate," replied the other. At that moment a bolt of lightning killed the first speaker.

When a Dover (N. H.) man finished painting his pole beans, he left the bag containing the left-over seed in the grass beside a tree. He found the bag the other day firmly rooted to the ground. The bottom layer of beans had sprouted, and the roots embedded themselves in the turf.

"I was walking across a field with my dog at my side when a young rabbit emerged from a wood close by," says a writer. "Suddenly it fell to the ground and was to all intents dead. The dog sniffed it and I watched it for about ten minutes, thinking it absolutely dead. I walked away about 50 yards, when I looked back and saw the rabbit rise and run rapidly into the wood whence it came. It is evident that it saw the dog and dropped down out of fright."

RELIGIOUS MATTERS

FAITH.

"I have learned my lesson of faith," I said, "Let me have my meed of the light." But the Teacher lovingly shook his head; "It is not faith that asks for light, and the gift of your lesson is yet to learn, if you cry for the day in the night."

"For Faith is an eagle skilled to fly On pinions of trust unbound, And it soars in the face of the stormy sky With a confidence profound, That joys in the rush of the beating air Without a thought of the ground."

"And your meed, my child, for a lesson learned, Is a call to a bolder flight, With its chance for a stronger stroke of the wing, And the gleam of an inner light, Which knows no choice in its vision keen Between the day and the night." —P. W. Crannell, in Service.

NO JOY WITHOUT THORNS.

It Is One of the Disciplines of Life Which Makes It Worth While Living.

There is no joy without its sorrow, just as there is no rose without its thorn.

Friendship means discipline; love means sacrifice; riches mean responsibility; power means service. None of these things will bring unmitigated happiness. Every one of them has its attending sharp thorns, and to hope to get the rose without the thorns is to be grievously mistaken.

Whoever takes unto himself new ties of affection increases his chances of suffering. It may make little difference to you what happens to a person for whom you do not care, or how such a one may treat you. But attach yourself to that person by the bonds of friendship or love, and instantly he obtains a power over your life which can cause you the greatest sorrow.

His illness or misfortunes hurt you almost as badly as your own. If he should die, a great black shadow would come over your life. If he is cold or careless, you are bitterly wounded. In a thousand ways he can make you suffer as a person for whom you cared nothing would be utterly powerless to do.

This is the penalty for love or friendship or every tie of affection. It doubles our joy, but it also doubles our griefs, and vastly increases our capacity for suffering.

There is something terrifying about these close human associations which have such tremendous power over us. We shrink from assuming them. Sometimes it seems better to go through life cold and self-centered, caring deeply for none, depending on no one's affection and tenderness. Thus, we reason, we may maintain the calm, unshaken poise impossible to him whose happiness depends in any degree upon others.

This is poor reasoning. It is true that one who loves no one nor is loved by any spares himself the pangs of grief which come with affection; but it is also true that he only half lives. He misses those emotions, both of pleasure and pain, which are necessary to make a complete, well-rounded character.

Both the sorrow and the joy of life are needed for its ripening. We dare not shirk the one through fear of the other. The strong heart will accept love, accept friendship, accept the sorrow they bring, and, knowing it all to be a part of life, will smile through its tears, and say:

"It was worth the sacrifice. Without the joy, I should never have known the beauty of life. Without the sorrow I should never have known life's meaning." —Philadelphia Bulletin.

In the Time of Trouble.

A Russian medical man has decided that electric light is least injurious to the eyes. He says that the oftener the lids are closed the greater the fatigue and consequent injury. By experiments he finds that the lids would close in candle light, 6.3 times per minute; gas, 2.8 times; sun, 2.2 times; electric light, 1.8 times.

Numerous successful trials in the hospitals have proved that Quina-Laroche is especially suitable for elderly persons and delicate children, and that it is most effective in cases of gastralgia, dyspepsia, neuralgia, emaciation, depression of spirits, slow convalescence, illness after confinement, chlorosis and anorexia. It is an antipyretic in all cases of fever, pneumonia, rheumatism, influenza and other acute inflammatory conditions.

The exhilaration from ozone is misleading, it appears, and the gas is now classed with those that are poisonous and is to be used with due caution. Its depressing effects on the nervous system are especially felt by workers with electrical machines. Prof. E. Wiedemann, a German physicist, mentions having suffered somewhat severely from a nervous affection of the feet, lasting a year or two, and he always experiences discomfort after performing experiments in his lectures on Tesla discharges.

The hay-fever serum, or pollinosis, of Dr. Dunbar of Hamburg, is shown to have proven very effective. Having first proven that hay-fever is due to the pollen poison from grasses, cereals and other plants, the investigator sought a preventive by repeated vaccination of animals with the pollen of pollen. The antitoxin thus produced in the blood serum neutralizes the poisonous effect of pollen in the eyes and nose. The serum is not injected under the skin, like others, but simply applied to nose and eyes.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 15, 1905.

Petition to President.

Sunday, Nov. 12, has been designated Presidential Petition Sunday by thousands of temperance people and Prohibitionists throughout the United States who on that plan to secure the adoption by churches and Sunday schools everywhere of a novel appeal to President Roosevelt based on the recent declarations of the Portland National Temperance Congress. This temperance congress asked Mr. Roosevelt to recognize the liquor question in his forthcoming message to Congress and advocate the abolition of the internal revenue system of the Federal Government so far as it applies to the liquor traffic. The present appeal endorses this declaration in strong terms and boldly argues the timeliness and expedience of the proposal.

The temperance people have already been circulating the appeal for several weeks and thousands of signatures have been secured. In addition thousands of post card appeals and personal letters on this special topic have been written to President Roosevelt direct by prominent temperance people in every part of the country. The interest in the agitation has grown beyond expectation. The National Prohibition Alliance movement is actively working for it. Many State and local leaders in the W. C. T. U., Good Templars, Anti-Saloon League, and other organizations are pushing the plan.

One of the unique features of this movement is the publication of an imaginary Presidential Message upon this issue under the title "A Dream That Might Come True." The Prohibition National committee, with headquarters in Chicago, is taking an active part in the agitation.

The appeal declares that the internal revenue is the chief bulwark of the liquor traffic at the present time, that under the system the liquor traffic has grown from a disorganized, insignificant business to an aggregation of gigantic vested interests controlling half a billion dollars' worth of capital, with a gross income conservatively rated at $1,500,000,000 (one billion and a half) while its cost to the community in police expenses, time lost by drinking wage earners, by relief of disease, insanity and poverty due to drink, according to careful authorities foots up an item close to $1,000,000,000 additional.

The National W. C. T. U. convention at Los Angeles, Oct. 28, unanimously adopted an appeal to President Roosevelt urging him to recognize the question of the liquor traffic in his message. The resolution adopted by the W. C. T. U. was as follows:

"Believing the liquor traffic to be the chief enemy of the child, the home, the Nation, the most prolific cause of race suicide and the greatest economic problem confronting our people, we appeal to you to give this question consideration in your next message to Congress."

Other meetings in almost every section have taken similar action.

A Birthday Greeting.

Monday evening the Broad street neighbors and friends of Mrs. Richard A. Frye gave themselves the pleasure of calling upon her to offer congratulations upon her birthday.

During the afternoon mysterious parcels had been surreptitiously smuggled into the hall, and with the evening light the surprised lady was ushered into the parlor to see the array of birthday gifts.

A willow table hung, about with cards and notes, each bearing a message of love and appreciation stood in the bay-window. On it were charming gifts of beautiful china, toilet articles, flowers, fruit, candies and needle work. Even the youngest neighbor—for the children have always had in Mrs. Frye the kindest and most lenient of friends—was represented by the work of childish fingers.

The surprise was still further enhanced by the appearance, during the evening, of a continuous series of visitors each bringing repeated expression of congratulation and appreciation.

All this was felt indeed to be but small token of the tender affection and esteem, born of years of pleasant and dignified association and rich with the memory of countless kindnesses which those who have been privileged to live near her cherish toward one whom all delight to honor.

Lumbering Interests.

Lumbering operations are being carried on in Riley Plantation this season, on lands of the International Paper Co., or the American Realty Co. Mr. Walter A. Emery and Mr. Guy Thurston are operating separately on Bull Branch, so-called, where they operated last season. Mr. Emery's contract call for 1,000,000 feet of spruce pulp timber. Mr. Warren A. Emery is again operating on Sunday river, and will fill a contract of 2,000,000 feet of spruce. All these parties have had large crews in the woods for some weeks and are busy yarding the timber. These are all sub-contractors under the well-known operators, M. L. & Y. A. Thurston, who also have operations going on at Black brook and Ellis river, in Andover, and in other places, and whose full contract is for 15,000,000 feet. This product goes to the International mills at Rumford and below. On the Riley lands, although operations have been going on for several years, there is still much timber left. No other operators are at work in Riley this season.

But few people are entirely free from indigestion at this season of the year. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is not only the best remedy to use because it digests what you eat but because it also enables the digestive apparatus to assimilate and transform all foods into tissue-building blood. Kodol relieves sour stomach, heart burn, belching, and all forms of indigestion. Sold by G. R. Wiley.

Resolutions.

Bethel Lodge No. 97, F. and A. M., November 9, 1905.

It is with a feeling of sadness that we are called upon to record the death of our esteemed Brother, M. W. Kilgore, for in his death we not only lose a worthy Brother but are once more sternly reminded that we, too, are mortal; that here we have no abiding city. Therefore be it

Resolved: That while we mourn his loss from our fraternal circle, it is with the faith of true Masons that we look beyond the mystic river, and feel sure that our Brother is still in the presence and under the guiding hand of the great and supreme Architect of the Universe.

Resolved: That we extend to the family of our absent Brother our sincere and fraternal sympathy and commend them to the care of Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved: That in respect to the memory of Brother Kilgore and to his Masonic worth, we give these resolutions a place in the records of our lodge and send a copy to his mourning relatives.

Bethel Lodge F. and A. M., October 12, 1905.

As the years with their noiseless feet come and go and as the angel of death is ever present with the fleeting years, beckoning one after another of our Brothers to cross the unseen river to that land where they weary ones of earth may lay down their heavy burdens and find eternal rest; and whereas the all-wise Grand Master of the universe has called our Brother, H. T. Chase from our fraternal circle, therefore be it

Resolved: That by his death we lose a worthy and much esteemed member of our Lodge who although living at a great distance and deprived of the privilege of meeting with us, yet was ever faithful to his Masonic duties.

Resolved: That to his memory we gladly and cheerfully recognize his many qualities as a citizen and friend; as we miss his yearly presence at least, we feel sure that he has only gone one degree higher and one step nearer to the celestial city to which we are all hastening.

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our departed Brother, also inscribed on our records.

J. H. BARROWS, Committee on Resolutions.
D. C. LOVEJOY,
H. C. ROWE,

Nature needs only a little Early Riser now and then to keep the bowels clean, the liver active, and the system free from bile, headaches, constipation, etc. The famous little pill "Early Risers" are pleasant in effect and perfect in action. They never gripe or sicken, but tone and strengthen the liver and kidneys. Sold by G. R. Wiley.

We learn wisdom by misfortune. Fretting is a potent cause of wrinkles.

"A Sterling Range Has No Equal."

Boom for Gilead.

Gilead people are looking forward with much hope to the prospective development of the water power near Gilead village on the Androscoggin river. From time to time during past years has the improvement of this power been discussed until now when so many powers are being utilized it seems almost settled that the one at Gilead will at an early day be developed and pulp and paper mills built.

Some months ago it is reported that New York and Boston parties in connection with some local interests, bonded several parcels of land lying on the river near the water power and above. Extensive surveys, and estimates were made and mills projected. It is not known whether these people are connected with the present prospective improvements, but recently a new move has been made and a part of the wooded land on which the option was about to expire has been purchased. This is a parcel of land formerly owned by Octave Cole, situated near the bridge. It is understood that other land will be purchased soon. It is proposed to build the dam near the bridge above Gilead village where there are natural ledge abutments and where the distance across the stream is about 250 feet. It is said that a 20 foot dam erected here will give 4000 horse power and would flow back some three miles or more. One grave difficulty to be encountered in building so large a dam is the extensive flowage which would be occasioned and the resulting damage to the farms along the river. A smaller dam which would flow much less territory, it is said will develop 1500 horse power.

There is nothing of a definite nature as yet in the matter, but enough is being done to warrant the supposition that plans are being laid for an early development of the power at this point and there are few discerning people in the vicinity who do not admit that it is but a matter of a comparatively short time before the improvements will come. As a result of this prospect land values are increasing and timber tracts are in greater demand. There is considerable timber of all kinds left which would be available for mills at this point, but this timber would form but a small part of that needed and which would be furnished as it is furnished to other mills on the river either by rail or by floating down the stream.—Lewiston Journal.

Changed Physicians.

"Doctor," said the patient, "I believe there's something wrong with my stomach."

"Not a bit of it," replied the doctor. "God made your stomach, and He knows how to make stomachs. There's something wrong with the stuff you put into it, maybe, and with the way you stuff it in and stamp it down, but your stomach is all right."

And immediately the patient discharged him.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

COMMUNICATION FROM G. R. WILEY.

Offer to Refund Money if Hyomei Does Not Cure Catarrh.

To the Editor of the News: I have been asked recently, if the advertisements printed in your columns regarding Hyomei were true, where I offer to refund the money if this treatment does not cure catarrh. I wish you would please print this letter in as conspicuous place as possible in your paper, saying that we absolutely agree to refund the money to any purchaser of a Hyomei outfit if it does not cure catarrh.

This outfit consists of an inhaler of a convenient size to be carried in the vest pocket so that the user can breathe Hyomei four or five times daily. With this is included a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The outfit sells for $1.00 and is a most economical treatment for the inhaler lasts a lifetime and there is enough Hyomei for several weeks' use while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

I trust this letter will settle any doubts that may have arisen as to my willingness to refund the money for a Hyomei outfit, in case the purchaser is not perfectly satisfied.

Respectfully yours,
G. R. WILEY.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE

STATE NEWS.

The officers of the Maine State Dairymen's Association held an interesting meeting at the Department of Agriculture in Augusta, Wednesday, for the purpose of arranging the program for the coming State dairy conference, which will be held at Pittsfield, Dec. 5, 6 and 7.

A man forty-five years of age, whose home is in Charleston, twenty five miles from Bangor, rode on a railroad train for the first time in his life, last Tuesday. At that time he went to Pittsfield.

Francisco Damaninico who was working at Bingham on some excavation work investigated to see why a charge of dynamite held fire, and the explosion occurred just as the unfortunate man reached the spot. His face was terribly lacerated as was also his left arm.

General Francis T. Sherman, chief of the staff, under General O. Howard, in the civil war, died last Thursday, at his residence in Waukegan, Ill. He was eighty years of age.

The successful story, "The Rainy Day Railroad War," which Holman F. Day wrote for the Youth's Companion, will be issued in book form by a well-known publishing house—Mr. Day writing in several additional chapters and bringing it up to 50,000 words. It was 35,000 words. Mr. Day has recently sold to the Youth's Companion another serial, "The Skokums of the Allegash," somewhat larger than the "Rainy Day Railroad War" and said to be even more lively and with more adventure and human interest than the former.

Aroostook boasts of lots of smart women, but none smarter than Miss Clara Stimpson of Houlton, Aroostook's great lumberwoman, as she is called. Miss Stimpson runs saw-mills, has crews in the woods, buys and sells lumber, keeping thoroughly informed in regard to the outlook and is very successful. By a little deal lately effected in one day, this well equipped lumberwoman was able to pass to the credit side of her ledger, a profit of $1,500. This is referred to merely to show that Miss Stimpson is no dreamer; she understands her business, knows the worth of money and how to acquire it by fair and honorable means.

According to the custom which has been handed down from year to year at the University of Maine, the losers in the sophomore-freshman ball game furnish three bushels of peanuts which are presented to the winners and a scrap for the possession ensues. This year the sophomores won the ball game so it was up to the freshmen to furnish the goods. The peanuts were furnished but when the sophs were invited to come out and claim their prize, they failed to show up, at least the larger part of them did and the few who did present their appearance were quickly tied hand and foot while the freshmen enjoyed a good natured scap among themselves. The upper classmen pronounce this an unusually tame affair and hope the sophs will get busy in the future.

FOREIGN NOTABLES.

Walter Rothschild, M. P., who recently spent three weeks at Cauteau, in France, near the Pyrenees, brought home to England with him nearly 4,000 specimens of butterflies to add to the million he already has.

Gen. Luis Terrazas, governor of the state of Chihuahua, is probably the largest land owner in the world, as well as the richest man in Mexico. It takes an eight hours' journey on a fast train to travel from one end of his property to the other.

Among the men who have lately become prominent in Russia is Lieut. Gen. Alexander Rodiger. He distinguished himself in the war of 1877-78 by Turkey, and has since attracted much attention by numerous articles and books on military questions.

William Adams, life saver at Gorleston, an English seaside resort, has saved the lives of 74 persons, besides rescuing hundreds of others from perilous positions. He has been presented with gold, silver and bronze medals, several of the Royal Humane society's certificates and numerous private tributes to his bravery.

Admiral Rojestvensky has a beautiful daughter, a fair girl of 20, who was married to a Russian naval engineer and followed him to the east in the capacity of a Sister of Charity. She returned to St. Petersburg when worn out and embarked later with her father, but he regretted permitting her to sail with the Baltic fleet and sent her home from Vigo.

President Loubet will be the first chief of the third republic to retire under normal conditions at the completion of his term. Thiers resigned, so did MacMahon, and though M. Grevy completed one term he had to quit office before the expiration of his second. Carnot was murdered; Casimir-Perier left the Elysee in disgust and Felix Faure's career was cut short by his sudden death.

An Englishman, Sir J. G. T. Sinclair, is so enthusiastic an admirer of Byron that he has built in London—in Fleet street—a Byron house in the poet's honor. There is a medallion of Byron over the door, surrounded by a wreath of laurels in statuary marble, and another inside, while several hundreds of lines of his poetry are engraved on marble tablets on the walls of the entrance lobby and staircase.

TALES OF THE TOTS.

Tommy pushed his little brother into a pile of coal and the latter began to cry.

"Huh!" exclaimed Tommy, "That didn't hurt you. It's soft coal."

Bessie, who was spending a few weeks in the country, upon hearing a rooster crowing one morning, stamped her little foot angrily and exclaimed: "Oh, you shut up; you don't lay any eggs!"

Ethel, aged six, was temporarily entertaining her sister's beau in the parlor.

"So you think Clara has made up her mind to marry me, do you?" he said.

"Oh, yes," answered Edith. "She made up her mind this morning. She's making up her face now."

By and by, when small Fred had finished sobbing, he said: "Mamma, you told a story."

"Why, Fred, what do you mean?" asked his mother.

"You said you was going to give me a good whipping," explained Fred, "but I didn't see anything good about it."

The little Baltimore girl was talking with a visitor. They discussed many things. The little girl felt that it was really a "grown-up" conversation, as they deplored the condition of the streets, and other evils of modern life. Then, for a time, the little girl was silent. She was lost in thought. Finally she sighed and said: "Lots of things could be made better. Why can't a toy-shop man call for orders every morning, the same as the butcher and grocer do?"

FLINGS AT THE FAIR.

You can nearly always convince a woman, if you try not to.

A discussion must be carried pretty far to move a woman.

A woman usually tries to endear herself, by making herself as costly as possible.

Few men consider it worth while to be jealous of their wives after they have been married ten years.

A woman who has married for love is generally willing to have her daughter marry for all the modern comforts.

Unless a man wants to know from whom every letter a woman gets is it hard for her to feel sure he loves her.

A woman may never learn anything in a cooking school, but she can turn up her nose at the ones who haven't been.

POINTED AND FITTY.

It takes a man of wisdom to utilize half he knows.

The criterion by which we judge others is the one by which we admire ourselves.

There is seldom much modesty from the material from which self-made men are constructed.

Remember, it is safe betting that no man is much interested in your troubles—unless he is a lawyer.

There are a good many "blarney stones" in this country, too. They are set in engagement rings.

Girls may not convert young men, but they are a great success in the service of drawing them to church.

Many a candidate for a back town-ship office firmly believes the country will go to the dogs if he isn't elected.

Then be a human sunbeam; Let the sky be blue.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure, apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail, Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Make the First Day the Best.

Much depends on how we spend our Sabbaths if we want to have a happy week. Here is what an old writer said about it:

A Sabbath well spent
Brings a week of content,
And a health for the joys of to-morrow;
But a Sabbath profaned,
Whatever be gained,
Is a certain forerunner of sorrow.
How do you spend your Sabbaths?

How many smiles there will be,
My friend, when you and I
Have learned to practice what we wish
These other folks would try.
—John T. Trowbridge.

One of the best ways of keeping your stomach clean, strong and healthy, is by drinking a glass of cold water every morning immediately after rising, and just before retiring at night. This simple health rule will enable you to laugh at the ailments which owe their origin to a disordered stomach and liver, or to the chronic constipation, from which so many persons suffer.

The Conversation of Women.

It is very well to call the talk of women trifling and frivolous; if it is pleasant and graceful, it is all that can be desired. Conversation should be the relaxation, not the business, of life; and the moralists who require that it should always be of improving character have no true idea of its proper social uses. Improving! Have we not books, lectures, institutions, and a complicated educational machinery enough of all kinds to improve us all off the face of the earth, if nature did not oppose a little wholesome duncehood on this sweeping tide of insurrection? Must the schoolmaster still follow us on our little holiday? If the "queens of society" will only give us talk which shall be bright without silliness—if they will show us that affectation, vanity, jealousy and slander are no necessary ingredients in the social dialogue, but that rather they give an ill savor to the wittiest and cleverest play of words—if they will remember that good humor, sympathy, and the wish to please for the sake of giving pleasure, will lend a charm to the most common-place thoughts and expressions—their conversations will improve us, perhaps, quite as much as most popular lectures and some popular sermons. The talk which puts you in good humor with yourself and with your neighbors is not wholly profitless. If it has but made a half hour pass pleasantly, which with a less agreeable companion would have been spent in gloomy silence, broken by spasmodic efforts, resulting in disgust at your own and his or her stupidity, it will have effected one of the ends for which speech was given us.

Only Makes a Bad Matter Worse.

Perhaps you have never thought of it but the fact must be apparent to every one that constipation is caused by a lack of water in the system, and the use of drastic cathartics like the old fashioned pills only makes a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are much more mild and gentle in their effect, and when the proper dose is taken their action is so natural that one can hardly realize it is the effect of a medicine. Try a 25 cent bottle of them. For sale by G. R. Wiley, Bethel, H. W. Dennison, West Bethel; E. L. Tetsch, Locks, Mills; J. W. Bennett, Gilead.

FOR FACIAL MASSAGE.

As Professionally Administered It Is Expensive—Home Apparatus Has Been Provided.

Beauty may be only skin deep, as the oracles tell us, but it is the desired possession of every woman. According to the professional beautifiers, massage is a most valuable aid to a successful beauty hunt and the retention of the bloom of youth when the days of youth have flown. Massage treatment professionally administered is expensive and not always satisfactory when attempted by amateurs. For a recent invention, however, the claim is made that it is a boon to the woman who wants to massage her face and neck herself, says the Brooklyn Eagle. The apparatus, as pictured, consists of a little piece of rubber tubing with a mouthpiece at one end and a tiny cup at the other, and the method of operation is simple and that it shall be made so that it will do duty at any time after an evening or dinner gown. This means that it will be cut short, which means more than walking length, but without a decided train, and in the intermediate length, which is known in pattern parlance as "round length." Affluence, or the lack of it, has nothing to do with this sensible fashion, which has taken with all classes, and at nearly all the prettiest weddings that have been solemnized this summer, as well as in the arrangements for all the prospective ones, the wedding gown is upon the same lines and of the same material that any pretty white evening dress might be. The idea is especially followed out in the material chosen. For instance, at one of the most fashionable of the late marriages the bride's gown was of white chiffon, the material in both skirt and bodice being done in fine sun-ray plaits. The bodice was draped picture fashion with lace, while the collar and the turn-back cuffs on the elbow sleeves were also of lace, embroidered in small Roman pearls. White Brussels net forms the pretty and by no means expensive material of a wedding gown which may be made over white taffeta, and which is lovely when trimmed in Chantilly lace. Lace will be greatly in evidence on all the white wedding frocks, even if the bride is not so fortunate as to possess any of the costly and heirloom variety, and the elaborateness with which all laces are "worked" up makes even the cheaper machine-made laces of the better kind into things of loveliness.

Hang of the Skirt.

The skirt that hangs straight or falls limply about the feet is hopelessly lacking in style, and as the ordinary walking skirt has no lining especial care must be given to its own lines and to the petticoat which is to be worn under it. If but one really good well-shaped petticoat with plentiful bottom flare and flouncing can be afforded let that petticoat be sacred to the short street costume. The long skirt will come nearer accomplishing its own salvation than the short skirt can, for contact with the floor will hold it out to some extent even if the petticoat worn beneath it is not all that could be desired in fullness and frilliness.

Vogue of Purple.

It will be almost impossible to get away from any of the shades of purple this winter. We are to be overrun with plum, dahlia, magenta, violet, lavender and heliotrope.

APPROVED BRIDAL DRESS.

Dressmakers Now Must Not Over-Elaborate This Gown and Should Make It For Other Use.

Fashion is emancipating brides from the dressmaker who over-elaborates her wedding gown, and now deprecates

"BE THOU STRONG."

The battle rages; terror
Is over all the field.
Some one must sink and perish,
Some one to-day must yield.
The resolute and wary
Whose weapons forward press,
May in a moment shudder
In utter helplessness.

O, "Be Thou strong," my brother!
This day forget thou not!
That glory hovers over
The field with danger fraught.
Strong in the God of battles,
For right take firm thy stand,
And "Be thou strong," to conquer
With courage, O, how grand!
—B. F. M. Sours, in United Presbyterian.

THREE CORDS OF LOVE.

This Greatest of Things Manifests
Itself Through the Heart and Soul and Mind.

There are three kinds of love—perhaps, rather, I should say, three instruments on which love plays. It may manifest itself through the heart, through the soul, or through the mind. My love for you may be either practical, admiring or communing. The love of the heart is practical; it ministers in common things. The love of the soul is admiration; it looks upon a far-off glory and longs to be near it. The love of the mind is communion; it has touched a point of equality with its object; it can listen and respond. A mother's love for her child is that of the heart; it is helpful. A poet's love for nature is that of the soul; it is wondering, admiring. A friend's love for a friend is that of the mind; it is intellectual sympathy—communion. I think our love for God plays successively each of these tunes. We begin with the heart; we say "Our Father;" we try to work for our Father. By and by the vision of wonder breaks upon us—the love of the soul; we bow with admiration before the mysteries of the universe. At last comes the glad morning—the love of the mind; we begin to know God, to commune with Him, to speak with Him face to face as a man speaketh with his friend; that is the manhood of our love.—George Matheson, in the Watchman.

HANDS TIED WITH LILIES.

How the Most Attractive and Fragrant Things in Life May Become a Snare.

A young man lost his life on one of the lakes in eastern Pennsylvania recently in a very strange way. He had taken several persons out on the lake to gather lilies. In reaching for the flowers the nurse of the family, who was one of the party, upset the boat and all were precipitated into the water. The young man was an expert swimmer and attempted to save the nurse and baby, but became enmeshed in the lilies and sank. When his body was recovered his hands were found bound together by lily stems.

So even the charming lily, the purest of flowers, the emblem of virtue, may become an instrument of death. So, says the New York Observer in commenting on this, there are many pleasures in life, in themselves as pure and attractive as the lily, but indulged in to excess they entwine themselves about the soul and drown it in worldliness. Blessings are good, but God may give so many of them that a soul might be destroyed by them. As an abundance of lilies may tie the hands of a swimmer that he perish by them, so indeed the pleasures of life may bind the soul that it sink into perdition by them.

As We Give.

A little fellow, who had noticed that his mother put only five cents into the contribution box on Sunday, said to her on the way home, as she was finding fault with the sermon: "Why, mamma, what could you expect for a nickel?" There was sound philosophy in the criticism.

The Silent Shave.

A tacturn man went into a barber's shop the other day and began by pulling out of his pocket a paper, on which was written:

"No; I do not wish to have my hair cut. I want to be shaved. I do not require any brillianine or orpimine, or anything else ending in 'ine.' Nor do I wish to be singed or shampooed. All I want is to be shaved in perfect silence."

The barber read the document, and then pointed to a notice on the wall, which ran:

"The proprietor begs to apologize to his customers for not entering into conversation with them, as he is deaf and dumb."—Tit-Bits.

LEARNED OF LITTERATEURS.

Viola Firth, a 13-year-old English girl, has written a volume of verse which has sold more than 3,000 copies. Paul Bourget's Paris home, in the Rue Barbet-de-Jouy, is a rallying point of the French artistic and literary society during the season.

The son of the not sufficiently appreciated novelist, Anthony Trollope, has likewise turned to literature. He is about to publish a biography of Moliere.

Justin McCarthy says that his three objects in his life have been attained. They were: To write books, to be a member of parliament, and to live in London.

Capt. Orville J. Nave, an army chaplain and author of "Nave's Topical Bible," is engaged in the compilation of a revised Bible which will be a unique edition and the only one of its kind.

Edward Rostand has made so much money with the products of his pen that he has been able to engage three popular Parisian artists, Jean Vebor, Henri Martin and Caro Delvalle, to decorate his Basque villa at Cambo.

Helen Longstreet, daughter of the famous general, has written in "Lee and Longstreet at High Tide" the story of the battle of Gettysburg in answer to certain criticisms that have been leveled at her distinguished father. She has gone to the records for her story, and has filled out sundry gaps by reference to the memoirs left by her father.

A. T. Quiller-Couch, better known as "Q," is the latest British novelist to make an effort to get into parliament. He will "stand" at the October election, and it is expected he will win out, as he is very popular in his native region. He lives in the Cornwall he has made so famous in his stories. Couch is 43 years of age, and has written 23 books.

While he was yet a teacher in the Jews' free school, Spitalfields, London, Israel Zangwill, now famous as author and playwright, composed some verses, and timidly sent them to the editor of an American magazine. They were promptly returned. Some years later, when fame had come his way, the same editor cabled for a poem. Mr. Zangwill dispatched the rejected verses, which were paid for at a high rate, and "boomed" as the work of a celebrated author.

CONCERNING CHURCHES.

Women without hats are not to be admitted hereafter to Canterbury cathedral in England.

Pope Pius X. has sent the papal benediction to the members of St. Liborius church choir, St. Louis, in recognition of their consistent and sustained observance of the regulations regarding church music.

As a memorial to the late Jay Cooke, one of the founders and rector's warden of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church of Ashbourne, Pa., a memorial hall will be built there. The plans for the building, which will cost $15,000, have been accepted. The funds will be provided by Mr. Cooke's children.

Twenty-five years ago, says a religious worker, the ruling idea of the church was that children should be seen and not heard. The result was that few were seen and none heard. The growth of young people's societies in the churches in the last quarter-century means that the truth is realized that the young are the most efficient builders of the Kingdom of Heaven on earth.

Dr. Adolf Fritzen, bishop of Strasbourg, has again issued an edict forbidding priests within his diocese to use bicycles. He is sharply criticised therefor by the newspapers, which call attention to the fact that bicycling ceased long ago to be a mere secular sport, and that priests often find the wheel most useful, especially those who have to visit members of their congregation in remote country places.

Notwithstanding the French people are demanding the separation of church and state, the Roman Catholics of France have given more to the world-wide propagation of their faith than all other countries combined. Out of a total of $1,352,017.07 given for that cause last year France contributed $701,008.64, while American Roman Catholics gave only $156,942.92, about one-eighth as much as was given to missions by the Methodist Episcopal church alone.

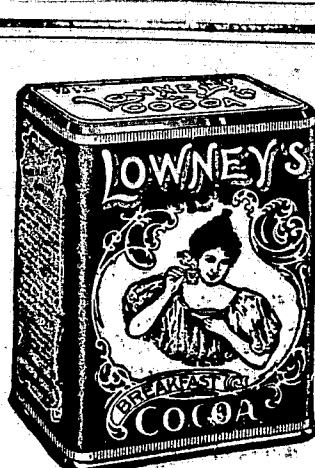

INVENTIVE INGENUITY.

In France the phonopostal, a paste board card on which the sound of the human voice is reproduced much as it is in a photograph, is being used as picture postcards are in many countries, for souvenirs.

A poor laboring man in Denmark has made a new invention in life saving. He impregnates clothes with a substance which will keep a shipwrecked person afloat for several days without losing its property.

A new machine for making glassware with handles, such as jugs, is being tried in Indiana, and is the invention of a mold maker named Horn man. It makes a handled article in one piece, and at one operation; it will displace thousands of hand workers, and reduce the cost to one-quarter, probably less.

By means of a French engineer's invention, the manufacture of sheets of glass by machinery, ready for use within half an hour of the incandescent state of the material, is rendered possible. The Fourcault machine can turn out continuously sheets of glass 32½ inches wide, of any desired length, and of a uniform thickness, varying from 1-16 inch to 5-16 inch. This glass can be obtained as rough glass for making extra thin glass, as horticultural glass and window glass.

No cocoa equals Lowney's in strength. Some are blacker—colored chemically—but inferior in real strength. Lowney's Cocoa is not loaded with ground cocoashells, flour, starch, or other adulterants. It consists of nothing but the choicest cocoa beans ground to flour fineness. The result is the most delicious, purest and finest flavored cocoa possible. Such cocoa as Lowney's, if made abroad and duties paid, would cost double the Lowney price.

The Walter M. Lowney Co., BOSTON.

PASSING PERSONALITIES.

Edward B. Russ, one of the best penmen in the service of the United States, has been selected to engross the treaty of peace between Russia and Japan. He has written many of the recent important state papers drawn up by the department of state.

Mrs. R. F. Herrick, mother of the governor of Ohio, who has lived in California for 45 years, is much interested in anthropology. At a meeting in San Francisco several days ago of the American Anthropological association she read a paper on "Indians of Humboldt, Nev.," which created much interest.

Mrs. Hett, Green has no particular religious views. She was bred a Quaker, but she goes to any kind of a church. "Indeed," she said, quaintly, on a recent occasion, "I once held mortgages on 28 different churches. I am a firm believer in simplicity. That is why so many people believe me mean, when the fact is I merely prefer not to be extravagant."

Guy Parker, a cowboy who has never been outside the state of Colorado, is an artist of marked ability. Painters and connoisseurs agree that he has caught the indefinable something which many have vainly striven to reach. Next year he will devote to work in an eastern art school. Parker is able to ride anything with four legs, and in exhibitions of reckless riding takes front rank.

Prof. Blake, the head of the electrical department at the University of Kansas, has been taken into a rich company that will make submarine signals. Prof. Blake made the discovery years ago and patented it. When a boy he noticed that if he dived and another kid knocked two rocks together under water he could hear it, as all boys know. He applied electric wires to this theory and it is expected will get rich.

Miss Rose B. Richardson, of Syracuse, N. Y., is the only woman electrical contractor in this country, which probably is equivalent to saying that there is none other anywhere. Formerly Miss Richardson was a telephone operator; from which occupation she graduated into her present business. Her list of customers is large and of sound financial status, and she employs a number of high-priced workmen. Several contractors have sought her for a partner, but she prefers to go it alone.

FROM SCIENTIFIC SOURCES.

According to the Scientific American, the cost of running an electric furnace capable of producing the extraordinary heat of 5,000 degrees is 80 cents a minute, $48 an hour, or about $500 a day.

At the recent Roentgen congress in Berlin a special committee adopted the following terminology for the new science: Roentgenology is the study of Roentgen rays; Roentgenography is photography by the rays; Roentgenoscopy is observation by Roentgen rays; orthoroentgenography in place of orthodiagraphy. Roentgenotherapy and the verb roentgenize in their obvious meanings.

The new quartz vessels, so valuable for their endurance of temperature changes, have disadvantages. They leak at high temperatures and Berthelot, using tubes with walls one-thirtieth of an inch thick, lost a third of the oxygen and a sixth of the nitrogen in one hour at 1400 degrees Centigrade. The sealed-up gases were originally at about air pressure. Permeability for hydrogen is quite marked at 800 degrees, but with hydrogen chloride and carbon dioxide it is scarcely appreciable below 1300 degrees.

The old idea that changes are taking place on the moon has been carefully investigated by M. Pulisux, a French astronomer. Going over all records, from the earliest observations to the latest, he concludes that the reality of the supposed changes has not been proved, and that the varying sensitiveness of the retina for faint objects is sufficient to account for differences seen, while different conditions of exposure might explain all appearances in the photograph.

The repulsive action of light is shown in a very pretty experiment. An hour glass shaped glass vessel is filled with very fine and light Lycopodium spore and the air is then pumped out to as high a vacuum as is practicable. The spore falls down through the orifice of this hour-glass in the usual way. As the light dust jet falls an intense beam of light focussed on it just below the hole spreads it out into a spray, the lighter particles being repelled most. On comparatively heavy material, like sand, the light beam could have no effect.

COLORADO CONCERNS.

Route county, Colorado, contains within its boundaries 72,770 head of cattle, valued at $817,643. In this respect, it leads all the counties in the state.

From 35,000,000 to 50,000,000 more tons of freight will be shipped into Denver this year than last, say the general freight agents, who also add that last year was considered the banner year in the railroad history of the town.

Owners of 2,000,000 acres of dry lands in eastern Colorado and western Colorado have formed the Colorado Association for Scientific Farming, to spread the knowledge of the Cambell system of dry farming to the world and to induce the settlement of the western plains.

Following the success which has attended the feeding of field peas to lambs in the San Luis valley, hundreds of farmers who have made fortunes in the process are now trying the same food on cattle, with equally good success. More than 600,000 lambs are being fattened there this year, and it is believed that in two years more the number of cattle fattened per season will exceed that number.
